FRANCESCA CORDEIRO
[REDACTED]

Child: [REDACTED]
Report No: [REDACTED]
Status: Indicated to Founded
Agency: York County Children and Youth
Services

Dear FRANCESCA CORDEIRO:

We have recently received information from the investigating agency stating that the above report has now become a dual status report. This means there was a court finding of abuse and your status as a perpetrator has been changed as noted above. The court's finding could include any of the following: a finding of guilt, and entry of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere; a finding of dependency; acceptance into an Accelerated Rehabilitative Disposition Program; entry of a consent decree; or entry of a Protection from Abuse Order. The status on the other perpetrator has not been changed.

The report will remain on file in the Statewide Database and county offices until 23 years after the child's birth. At that time, the report will be expunged. Your name will remain on file indefinitely if your social security number or date of birth is known to the Department of Human Services. Under the Child Protective Services Law, 23 Pa. C.S. §§ 6301 et seq., this might bar you from getting a job in public and private schools and in child care service programs. It might also prevent you from becoming a foster or adoptive parent. In addition, it could prevent you from volunteering in a child care service program or public or private school or from obtaining certain educational degrees or certificates. It may also affect many other types of jobs.

You have the right to ask for services, which are intended to prevent further abuse or neglect, through the county children and youth agency. You also have the right to receive a copy of this report by writing to that agency or this office.

If you disagree with this decision you must provide a court order indicating that the underlying adjudication that formed the basis of the Founded report has been reversed or vacated. A copy of the court order, referencing the above report, should be sent to:
